Dear Sisters and Brothers Christ,

Grace and peace to you in the name of our God, the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

Once upon a time a little river said to itself, “I’m going to become a great and mighty river.” And that little river worked very hard at getting big. In the process, the river encountered a huge boulder which blocked its path. “No way,” it said, “I’m not going to let this rock stop me.” So the little river pushed and pushed until it finally made its way around the massive rock.

Next, the river encountered a tall mountain. “No way,” said the little river, “I’m not about to let any old mountain stop me from becoming big. So, it pushed and pushed and pushed once more until it finally carved a canyon through the mountain and flowed on its way.

After that, the river came to an enormous forest. “Absolutely not!” it cried. “I’m not going to allow a bunch of trees to stop me.” So it pushed and pushed until it made its way through the expansive forest.

The river, now large and very powerful, arrived at the edge of a vast desert. “Ha,” it said, “There’s no way that I’m going to let a desert stop me. But as the river pushed and pushed its way across the desert, the hot sand began soaking up its water until only a few puddles remained.

The river was silent and quivering in its defeat. It was then, however, when the river heard a voice from above. “My child,” it said, “Stop pushing and don’t give up. All is not lost. It’s time to surrender. Surrender to me and I will lift you up and over this obstacle that you yourself cannot overcome. Allow me to lift you up. Let me carry you.” The river, exhausted and in despair said, “Here I am; let it be with me.”

The sun then lifted the river up and turned it into a great cloud. And the wind carried the river across the desert and let it rain down on the hills and valleys of the far away fields, making them fruitful and rich.

Ambition, confidence, and determination are wonderful attributes. However, when they are depended upon apart from God who created them and us, they are not likely to get us very far, at least not for very long. The truth is we will all come to our various deserts in this life—failure, rejection, insecurity, major disappointments, loss, etc.—when we will need something or someone outside ourselves to get us through. It is then, that we will hear most profoundly God calling to us, “My child, stop pushing. Don’t give up. All is not lost. It’s time to surrender. Surrender to me and I will lift you up and over this obstacle that you yourself cannot overcome. Please, allow me to lift you up. Let me carry you.”

Of course, there is even better news for each of us. We don’t have to wait for the desert experience. God is here right now calling to each of us, “Let go. Surrender to me. You don’t have to do it all yourself. In fact, you can’t. Please, allow me to be your God. Fear not, for I am with you. Together we can do incredible things. Together we can make an incredible difference in the world. Trust me.”

Can you hear him calling? He desperately wants to lift each of us up and over whatever it is that keeps us from being the people he created us to be. With God even the impossible becomes possible.

Yours in Christ,

Randy Whitehead

To speak of a Christmas centered on Christ himself is redundant because the true meaning of this festivity is to celebrate the birth of baby Jesus, the Son of God. He came into this world to fulfill the great mission that was prepared for him, and this was to free the world from the chains of sin.

Christmas and New Year are to be experienced together with the family, to commemorate the birth of baby Jesus and to welcome the coming year.

You can help other people rethink about the importance and true meaning of these beautiful holidays. For that we offer you some excellent congratulatory texts that you can share via social networks, so choose the ones you like most, they are free!

– “If, when you think about the year that is ending, you find that your faith has grown, then you are on the right track. Do not stop doing good deeds and God will bless you abundantly in this 2022.”

– “Nobody is exempt from having problems in their lives, but God is so righteous that he does not send a problem without a solution so that we can overcome it, making us wiser people. Have a happy and prosperous New Year. “

– “True happiness is obtained through acts of kindness filled with love that we have with our loved ones, our friends and our neighbors. Happy a New Year filled with many blessings. “

“No matter the size of the problem you are facing or if the situation seems impossible to solve. If you keep your faith intact, God will help you overcome everything. Congratulations on this New Year once again.”

May everything you do in this New Year be in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that way He will bring prosperity into your life. May you and your family have a Happy New Year.”

I Am the New Year Bible Illustrator

I am the new year. I am an unspoiled page in your book of time.

I am your next chance at the art of living. I am your opportunity to practice what you have learned about life during the last twelve months.

All that you sought and didn't find is hidden in me, waiting for you to search it but with more determination.

All the good that you tried for and didn't achieve is mine to grant when you have fewer conflicting desires.

All that you dreamed but didn't dare to do, all that you hoped but did not will, all the faith that you claimed but did not have—these slumber lightly, waiting to be awakened by the touch of a strong purpose.

I am your opportunity to renew your allegiance to Him who said, "Behold, I make all things new."

We want to thank the congregations for all of the donations of fabrics, kit items, and other needed supplies. Without these donations we would not have been able to accomplish all that we did. As this project has on-going needs, we ask that you keep your eyes open for these kit items.

Applying Bible Principles

Two men were visiting a factory where they were shown the rooms where huge machines were operating. Inside those rooms, the noise level was extremely high. Then the guide showed them a smaller room which was very quiet. One of the men commented that there was not much going on in this particular room. To which the guide replied, "This is the most important room in the entire plant. This is where the power comes from to run the huge machines. We call this room 'The Quiet Room.'" In the same way, the "power room" of the Christian life is the place where we daily meet and commune with God. It's where we find strength and power to meet the challenges that await us. Why don't we do that more often? Why for many of us is our private time of devotions sort of "hit and miss," with a greater emphasis on the "miss" than on the "hit"? Could it be that we do not sense our need of spending time alone with God each day?

The apostle Paul wrote, "Not that we are competent of ourselves to claim anything as coming from us; our competence is from God" (2 Cor. 3:5). In other words, on our own, we cannot live the Christian life. We are powerless to be what God wants us to be and to live as God wants us to live. "Our competence comes from God." That is why it's important for us to make time in our busy schedules for time alone with God.

Horatio Bonar, a minister who lived in the 1800s, knew this truth. This is how he expressed it in one of his hymns:

*Here, O my Lord, I see Thee face to face; Here would I touch and handle things unseen;
Here grasp with firmer hand eternal grace, And all my weariness upon Thee lean.
Here would I feed upon the bread of God, Here drink with Thee the royal wine of Heaven;
Here would I lay aside each earthly load, Here taste afresh the calm of sin forgiven.
I have no help but Thine; nor do I need Another arm save Thine to lean upon;
It is enough, my Lord, enough indeed; My strength is in Thy might, Thy might alone.*

Think about this: There is no demand made upon your life or mine which isn't a demand upon the life of Christ in us. Only as we spend time alone with him, meditating upon the Word of God, bringing our requests in prayer, and receiving fresh strength can we be the kind of Christian God wants us.

Do you want to be effective in serving the Lord here at New Life? Do you want to do more than just go through the motions of Christian service? Do you want your efforts to make an impact on people for the sake of the Gospel and for eternity? Then realize that your strength and power come only from the "power room" of spending time daily in the Lord's presence so that you will have all that you need for the day ahead.

To Start A New Year Anonymous

"A new year is unfolding—like a blossom with petals curled tightly concealing the beauty within.

Lord, let this year be filled with the things that are truly good—with the comfort of warmth in our relationships, with the strength to help those who need our help and the humility and openness to accept help from others.

As we make our resolutions for the year ahead,

DIY Crystal SNOWFLAKES

Want to make your own Crystal Snowflakes?

Here's what you need:

- white pipe cleaners
- string
- wire cutters {or old scissors that you don't care about}
- pencil
- wide mouth pint mason jar
- water
- borax
- food coloring {optional}

Start by cutting your pipe cleaner into thirds. Take two pieces and make an x. Then wrap one around the other. Repeat with the other piece to make a snowflake shape. Tie the string onto one of the ends.

Place it in the mason jar to figure out where to tie the string to the pencil. You don't want the snowflake to touch the sides or the bottom of the jar or else it will become crystallized to the jar. I trimmed the ends a little bit so it would fit better. Once you have the snowflakes hanging in the center of the jar, remove them.

Fill the jar with boiling water. Add food coloring, if desired. Add 6 T. borax to pint jars. {or 12 T. to quart jars} Stir until dissolved. I found it was easier to pour some borax into a bowl for the kids to measure out.

Then place your snowflake back in the jar. Make sure that it's not touching the sides or bottom of the jar. Now comes the hard part. You have to wait overnight for the crystals to form.

I pulled them out the next morning and put them on a paper towel to dry. You can see that the blue one is just lightly colored. We used probably 12 drops of food coloring. The kids thought this was really cool. I did too. I've made quite a few for the tree and am still going to make a few more.

So what do you do when your jar has crystals all over the bottom?

Here's the trick. Pour a little boiling water in it and grab a fork to scrape the bottom a little and they'll come right off. Sometimes it will come out with super hot tap water too.

I had a hard time finding borax, but finally found it at Walmart. The two local grocery stores didn't have it. It's in the laundry soap aisle. I may try them with colored pipe cleaners. It might give it kind of a frosted look. I love projects like this. You can mess around with different things. If it doesn't work, oh well...since it doesn't cost much.
